Course Title: The World Since 9/11: Twenty Years Later
Course Code: HIS 21
Instructor: Thomas S. Mullaney (Professor of History)

Course Summary:

Global history knows few moments as transformative as September 11, 2001. The war in Afghanistan went on to become the longest military conflict in US history. The global war on terror more broadly transformed and destabilized a large swath of the Middle East, North Africa, and beyond. The 9/11 attacks became a new model for nonstate actors and terrorists in the deployment of new tactics and strategies, and a new vocabulary for states and governments, which could now categorize any number of once-unacceptable policies under the rubric of “anti-terrorism.” Governments around the world unveiled surveillance programs with unprecedented levels of reach and sophistication. Meanwhile, violence against Muslims, both state-sanctioned and spontaneous, crescendoed. In fact, hardly any national policy was untouched, whether on matters of energy, foreign affairs, military intervention, immigration, or otherwise. 9/11 was a fulcrum around which nearly every aspect of our everyday lives pivoted.

In this course, a multidisciplinary group of experts will gather to reflect how the world has changed in the twenty years since that fateful Tuesday. Guest speakers include Robert Crews, professor of history, Stanford, who will speak about the war in Afghanistan; Lisa Blaydes, professor of political science and a senior fellow at the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies, Stanford, who will speak about post-9/11 Iraq; Serkan Yolacan, assistant professor of anthropology, Stanford, who will speak about transnational Muslim movements in the Middle East and Central Asia following 9/11; and Darren Byler, postdoctoral researcher, University of Colorado, who will speak about the mass detention and surveillance of Uyghurs and other Muslim minorities in northwest China. In reflecting on the past twenty years, the course will also offer students a chance to imagine alternative, and better, futures.

Grade Options and Requirements:

- No Grade Requested (NGR)
  - This is the default option. No work will be required; no credit shall be received; no proof of attendance can be provided.
- Credit/No Credit (CR/NC)
  - Students must attend/watch at least 4 out of 6 class sessions.
- Letter Grade (A, B, C, D, No Pass)

Please contact the Stanford Continuing Studies office with any questions
365 Lasuen St., Stanford, CA 94305
continuingstudies@stanford.edu
650-725-2650
o Students must attend/watch at least 4 out of 6 class sessions and complete a piece of written work (to be discussed further in class).

Please Note: If you require proof that you completed a Continuing Studies course for any reason (for example, employer reimbursement), you must choose either the Letter Grade or Credit/No Credit option. Courses taken for NGR will not appear on official transcripts or grade reports.

Tentative Weekly Outline:

Week 1: Introduction
Week 2: America’s Longest War: Afghanistan and its Legacies (Guest: Professor Robert Crews)
Week 3: Global Islam: Muslim Movements in the Middle East and Central Asia, Post-9/11 (Guest: Professor Serkan Yolacan)
Week 4: Iraq after 9/11 (Guest: Professor Lisa Blaydes)
Week 5: The Global War on Terror Goes East: The Mass Detention and Surveillance of Uyghur Muslims in China (Guest: Professor Darren Byler)
Week 6: Course Conclusion

Note About Live Attendance and Recording:

These class sessions will be recorded.

Live attendance is recommended. Recordings will be available to students for the duration of the course.