Background reading – recommended – not required:

These readings may enhance your experience at the workshop. Due to time constraints we may not reference them directly or at all. The 4 mindsets as outlined by Keith Ferrazzi go a long way toward building a strong group. Susan Cain’s research on the leadership qualities of introverts gives a new perspective toward understanding each other – whether you see yourself as an introvert or extrovert this is a compelling look at a personal quality that we often misunderstand.

Requirements for Credit/No Credit: Attend Thursday and Friday evenings and full day sessions Saturday and Sunday.

Requirements for a Letter Grade:
For an A – attend ALL five sessions and submit 4 typed journal pages – one for Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday sessions.
For a B – attend Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday sessions making a good faith effort to participate fully.

Topics to be covered:
Empathic listening
How to give and receive honest feedback
A look at emotions through a neuroscience lens
Understanding and integrating feelings in your communication
Applying the skills learned in this workshop in everyday life

Course design: This is a hands-on experiential workshop. Active participation is key. A good level of proficiency in English is also helpful. There will be presentations and class exercises; much of the time will be spent in a small group (up to 12 people) facilitated by one of the instructors. If you attend with a partner or close friend we will try to place you in different groups.
